DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Conwell et al (U.S. Patent No. 6,350,071). Conwell et al discloses in Figures 1 and 2 a printer for depositing an ultraviolet curable ink onto a printable item such as labels (4) from a printer head (2) and with integrated ultraviolet (UV) curing capability comprising element set forth in these claims including the UV station having a UV lamp (5) which emits UV radiation (9) directed to the labels (4) to cure the UV curable ink into a cross-linked polymer through a polymerization process to provide a more durable image (column 2 lines 22-46 and column 3 lines 25-33 and 40-53).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3743

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Conwell et al (U.S. Patent No. 6,350,071) in view of Treadwell (U.S. Patent No. 4,065,068). Conwell teaches elements set in these claims but lacks the teaching of the label rewinder. Treadwell discloses in Figures 1 and 2 an apparatus for handling paper tape in various manners such as reversing or rewinding. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art during the time of the invention to add the paper tape/label accessory suggested by Treadmill in Conwell's printer as such would provide convenience and low maintenance in storing label roll after it is printing.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
